It has been a pleasure to have Mr. John Cummings as a member of our volunteer team at Picatinny Commissary. John is the type of person who fulfills his commitments with dedication and enthusiasm. He is well liked and respected by his peers. He is a tireless worker who is dependable and flexible. He is not afraid to change the game plan if a process is not working out. He is committed to making the community here at Picatinny a better place for our military with the sacrifice of his time and efforts. John uses his knowledge along with unique skills and leadership abilities to positively and productively serve those families that are dealing with challenges that come with service to our country. He embraces our "customer first principles" that have made the commissary a highly valued benefit which is a cornerstone of quality of life and readiness. For many, returning to civilian life can be difficult, especially if suffering from an injury, depression or post-traumatic stress. John is a person who really cares about our military members and their families, a true leader.

We recognize the value of volunteers and their humanitarian efforts to improve lives. John Cummings is an outstanding individual. As we learn of his grade scores and mechanical abilities; his awards and accolades, all these things reinforce and characterize what a remarkable young man he really is.
